Our mission: to restore, protect, celebrate, and sustain the natural resources of the Westport River and its watershed

A scenic photograph of a river with a wooden bridge, a misty background, and birds flying over the water. The river is calm, reflecting the sky and the surrounding greenery. In the distance, a thick layer of mist or fog hangs over the water and the forested hills. A wooden bridge with a railing spans across the river in the middle ground. Several birds are captured in flight over the water in the foreground. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.

Dear Members, Supporters & Friends:

2011 was a year of reflection, transition, and action. A record number of members offered valuable feedback for our feasibility study through interviews and surveys. We used the information to focus our energies. We successfully navigated an important transition of executive directors and hired Matt Patrick. In order to create sustainability for our organization, he and members of a budget team took challenging actions to bring financial resources in line with revenue trends while maintaining our mission. Our membership answered our annual fund appeal with renewed hope. WRWA continues to make a difference toward cleaner water for future generations

Highlights of this past year's work include:

Herring Run. In alliance with the Westport Fisherman's Association and financial support of friends, neighbors, and with matching work from the town, the Herring Run at Cockeyeast Pond was improved to give better access to spawning fish and increased tidal flushing.

Stormwater Pollution Solutions: WRWA initiated and helped to implement projects affecting the Head of Westport, the upper West Branch of the Westport River, Westport Harbor, Sam Tripp Brook, and Bread and Cheese Brook. Bacteria Pollution: West Branch shellfish beds have been closed due to high bacteria counts. WRWA's staff tracked and monitored sources of pollution in the River Road area. We applied for a grant for the town that will design plans to treat polluted runoff, ideally resulting in cleaner water for the shellfish. Education: Shelli Costa and her team served 2,500 students in the watershed creating an appreciation and understanding of environmental resources. Our education team connected to the community by hosting nature walks and talks, beach clean ups, horseshoe crab monitoring, and electronics recycling. Water Resources: Roberta Carvalho continued WRWA's long-term water quality assessment programs. The data we collected was used as a guide to track pollution sources and measure the health of the Westport River. Advocacy: Betsy White was an integral part of the Town's Estuary Project Committee, providing assistance as Westport sorts out the results of the Mass Estuaries Project report and pursues nitrogen management solutions. In addition, the staff offered their expertise as resource to the Town and administrator, Jack Healey, to secure grant funding and play a supportive role in promoting pollution solutions.

In September, Matt Patrick took the helm as Executive Director and started overseeing WRWA and our mission. Included in his vision is seeking private funding to lower the cost of water treatment with less expensive alternatives to sewers. In October he hired Jim Bride as a part-time development assistant. They are both giving us fresh insights into nonprofit advocacy and development.

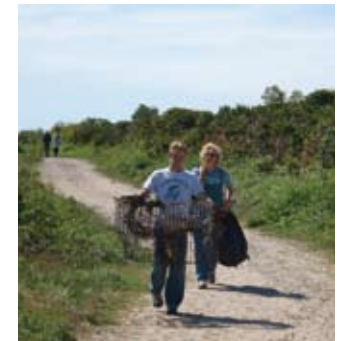

The whole WRWA team is committed to current sustainability and future growth of our organization for the improvement of precious water resources in the watershed. During changing tides, we have not let up... and the need for our work grows.

We appreciate your continued engagement as stewards of the watershed and the Watershed Alliance as part of our Team. The need for the work we do flows just as sure as water flows down river and we find our way around obstacles because of your encouragement and support, thank you!

Sincerely,

Sally Ann Ledbetter
President

Overview

Formed in 1976, the Westport River Watershed Alliance (WRWA) is a 501(c)(3) member-supported nonprofit organization dedicated to its mission to restore, protect, celebrate, and sustain the natural resources of the Westport River and its watershed (100-square miles including parts of Little Compton and Tiverton in Rhode Island and parts of Westport, Freetown, Fall River, and Dartmouth in Massachusetts). It is staffed by 5 full-time employees, one part-time employee with Matt Patrick serving as Executive Director. An active, well-respected and consistent voice for the environment in Southeastern New England, WRWA's efforts focus on three major areas.

Education and Outreach

Established in 1991, our Watershed Education Program (WEP) involves in-class and field studies for every grade (K-12) in the Westport Community School system. Additional programs have been developed upon request for Dartmouth, Fall River, Taunton, Tiverton, and home-school classrooms. Pre-school and after-school programs are available as well as special Summer Explorer programs. Currently, WEP engages over 2,500 students annually. Adult programs included interpretive walks and talks with special presentations and subjects such as osprey, horseshoe crabs, geology, and low impact development. An electronic newsletter, River News, is produced monthly. Additional print and online publications are produced throughout the year.

Assessment and Restoration

WRWA maintains one of Massachusetts' longest ongoing bacteria monitoring program collecting weekly samples from boat and land at 12-20 locations throughout the watershed. In addition, WRWA volunteers take part in the Buzzards Bay Coalition's Baywatchers, a water monitoring project that demonstrates the progressive problem of nitrogen loading in our rivers and bays. In 2008 we began monitoring four area ponds to establish baseline information to assess future pollution remediation strategies. In 2006, WRWA established a Watershed Improvement Fund to provide grants for local projects that will have a demonstrable impact on water quality improvement. In 2010, we worked in cooperation with the Westport Fishermen's Association, other groups and private citizens to restore a fish passage at the Herring Run on River Road. We are currently working with the Town of Westport and the Buzzards Bay National Estuaries Project on multiple stormwater pollution projects. We also host annual clean-ups to encourage citizen participation and stewardship of our fragile natural resources.

Advocacy

WRWA's staff, members and volunteers participate in local government at all levels and sit on many town boards and committees. Not only do they take part in the decision-making process, but they also lend support and provide resources to the local and regional communities. WRWA encourages actions to preserve and protect the Westport River watershed through numerous initiatives and the promotion of community stewardship. With the release of the MA Estuaries Project report on the health of the Westport River, the Watershed Alliance will work with the Town of Westport and other watershed communities to address nutrient pollution and determine the approaches and means for restoring the River to healthy conditions. We continue to build awareness of the problems impacting our local environment. We create alliances to further protect the watershed.

2011 Annual Giving

In an effort to acknowledge the many ways in which our contributors support WRWA throughout the year, members are listed according to their total annual giving. Gifts in this total include memberships, Annual Fund contributions, matching gifts, memorial contributions, endowment gifts, Summer Gala contributions (excluding auction purchases) and other donations from January 1 – December 31, 2011. Every effort has been made to ensure that these listings are accurate and inclusive. If you feel that an error has been made, please contact the WRWA office.
